Mission

This is our promise to the animals that are entrusted into our care. Animal House will provide relief and support to overburdened shelters by saving animals slated for euthanasia due to time and space. Giving them a second chance at life and providing families with wonderful pets.

It is our goal that our shelter reflects a safe, healthy and clean environment for these animals. Having healthy animals, both physically and mentally, is a priority to Animal House. We ensure this by giving them quality nutrition, daily exercise and fresh air in a sanitary environment.

Due to the stress that these animals have experienced, it is important to us to provide a caring environment that will ease their transition into their new life. Upon entrance into our adoption program, all animals will be provided medical care by licensed veterinarians.

Every animal will be given the right to health and if sick or injured will not be denied care. First and foremost, Animal House values quality of life and believes that all animals deserve a second chance to have one.

Over 900 Lives Saved!

Programs and Outreach

Shelter Transfer Program - Animal House exclusively supports other open- and nationally higher populated, under served communities, Animal House provides relief both to those who have little choice but to euthanize due to time and space. This successful program has helped to save over 900 lives and provides a much needed service both to the animals and the desiring companionship.

School Outreach - One of the most important things we can teach our youth is empathy and compassion for those less fortunate. Learning this through hands-on volunteering and informational tours not only affects animals but extends to their actions in society. From our Child Safety Dog Bite Prevention program to Pet Poster Contests, we are excited to get our children involved!

Volunteer Program - From dog walking, puppy fostering to fundraising, Animal House has many opportunities for families to get involved.

In 2008, our volunteers donated over 3,400 hours of their time!

Animal House is proud to work together with various community businesses to provide the community with information and resources to promote the human-animal bond relationship.
